SIXTH SENSE MYTH.WOMAN AND POWERS OF INTUITION.Woman is commonly credited with a sixth sense very strongly developed in intuition.A contemporary writer confesses to be an arch-heretic and argues that if woman's intuition were so unequally developed—as it is—commonly represented to be, her advantage over man would be incalculable. In emergencies her decisions would be more prompt and wise than his, she would more readily detect false logic, she would judge character unerringly and so be better protected against the designs of the unscrupulous. In reality, more women than men are victims of subtle impostors.If women were so highly intuitive they would excel in the law courts. Intuitive perception being a natural force, women would leap to swift but sound conclusions while trained and experienced men were stumblingly endeavouring to sift evidence.As speculators they would achieve riches, or by their advice enable men to achieve them, yet in truth any trader, man or woman, who bought and sold by intuition without studying the markets would be ruined.In domestic and social life women's superior intuition is seldom apparent. They do not secure more faithful friends than men do, they are not more successful in selecting servants, they do not adjust themselves more happily to the caprices and tempers of their associates, nor more quickly perceive the consequences of unwise words.In that crucial test the selection of a husband women's mistakes are frequent and lamentable. Men, who are confessedly devoid of intuition, are often fascinated by unworthy women, but rarely are they so blind as a woman enamoured of an unworthy man.OLD LONDON.*DAYS WHEN GIRLS WERE EXCHANGED.If when a visit is paid to London one cares to do a little exploring in the neighbourhood of Upper Thames Street, he can have the satisfaction of knowing that he is standing on one of the most ancient outposts of English civilisation.Turn down Dowgate-hill, which runs from Cannon Street station, cross Upper Thames Street, walk down the steep little lane which runs, slightly to the left to the river.Here are wooden stairs, which may sometimes be descended at low tide, and here, on the strand of the Thames, is the bit of land on which the Britons conducted their first chaffering with the Gauls.Here the Walbrook runs into the Thames; and here stood the ancient Dowgate named, from the Celtic word dwr, meaning water.The Dow-gate was the terminus of the long track which wound away from the river, over the ford at King's Cross, still called by its later name of Battle Bridge, over Hampstead Hill, and so to Verulam, now St. Albans.London was a very unimportant place in those days, nothing much more indeed than the port for Verulam. At Lyn-din, the Lake Foss, to give London its early name, were collected the skins, the lumps of tin, and the slave girls, exchanged for the products of Gaul.
Many of the old halls of Companies clustering in the neighbourhood testified centuries afterwards to the connection of the spot with the City's trade.Dowgate-hill was famous in later days for the floods which used to pour down it after heavy rains.
Old historians used to tell of a boy who was killed by being carried down the stream in a rainstorm.O. E. WARREN & CO., LTD.

ODDS & ENDS.MAINLY SCISSORS LOOT.*Pennies At The Grave.Poor people brought pennies to the graveside at Reading of Mr.
Richard Jones, an evangelist, who died penniless in a lodging-house.
An appeal had been made for subscriptions to save him from a pauper's burial, and the funeral arrangements were made in anticipation of the amount being raised.300-Years-Old Fish Trap.Mrs. Jones, the octogenarian of Tan-yr-Alit, Carnarvonshire, is to be allowed to continue to use her fish trap, which has been in her family for 300 years, although the area Fishery Board contend that the use of it in the weir infringes a by-law.She was summoned by the Board, and the magistrate found her guilty of a technical offence, but inflicted no penalty.Year Rare Death.A Grimshy schoolboy, George Baker, 11, has died after bleeding for six days from a cut in the knee.
At the inquest the mother said that neither private nor hospital doctors could stop the bleeding.
Dr. Harris said the boy was a victim of hemophilia, a rare condition in which the blood would not coagulate over a wound and sufferers invariably bled to death.
The coroner, returning a verdict of Accidental Death, said it was the first case of the kind in his 38 years' experience.Tree In Omnibus.As the driver was applying his brakes to avoid another vehicle, a motor-omnibus skidded in Upper-street, Islington, N., turned completely round, and struck one of the trees at the side of the road.
The tree went through the windows and panels, part of the trunk being inside the omnibus, while the foliage stuck out through the top. The boughs had to be sawn off to remove the tree.
Five passengers were slightly injured.Land From The Wash.Preparations are being made to reclaim 500 acres of land from the Wash.The land to be enclosed by way of an experiment lies on the Crown estate at Wingland. About 50 men will be employed on it, and it will be completed in a year.Should the experiment prove successful, Mr. Noel Buxton, the Minister for Agriculture, has promised that the Government will consider reclaiming another 5,000 acres.Life Of Lord Minto.Mr. John Buchan's Memoir of Lord Minto, which is just published by Nelson's, deals exhaustively with the career of the famous counsellor of Lord Morley. The first is devoted to his childhood and early manhood, in which he saw fighting in Paris, Spain, Turkey, Afghanistan and Egypt.
The second part deals with his Governor-Generalship of Canada.
The third deals with his Viceroyalty in India, in which the book gives an interesting glimpse of the other side of the memorable series of Lord Morley's letters to Lord Minto, published in the former's Reminiscences in the East. "The personal factor is omnipotent," says Mr. Buchan, "and Lord Curzon's successor, who thought of Government as an exercise in co-operation, and not as an anxious dictatorship, by sheer force of personality secured harmony and healed India, on whom he bestowed the framework of the Reform scheme." In this connection, Mr. Buchan says that Lord Minto and Lord Morley considered that Great Britain must always be responsible for the Indian Empire, and retain in the last resort, the power for enforcing Great Britain's commands.Webber Millions.A Devonshire man, William Brayley, has just arrived at Torquay to make inquiries which, he hopes, will further his claim to a portion of the "Webber millions," derived from the estate on which New York is built and left by William Webber. Webber was a Devonshire man, and when his daughter married without his consent he disinherited her, leaving his property to the seventh generation. His descendants are scattered in the United States, Canada, Holland, and Devon.King's Clemency.The sentence on Captain Walter Robert Low, D.S.O., M.C., who was found guilty by a general court-martial of converting £341 of the funds of the 1st Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Regiment, was promulgated at Aldershot. Captain Low has been cashiered and sentenced to two years' hard labour.
The finding was duly confirmed, but the King, in view of Captain Low's splendid military record, has exercised his clemency and has remitted one year of the imprisonment. At the trial it was stated that Low was a captain in the Territorials before the war, but went on active service as a sergeant, and soon gained a commission. He had offered £194 as restitution. Colonel Addison, commanding the regiment, said Low was an exceptionally capable officer.£2,000 On His Head.Precise information has not yet been received of the exact circumstances in which Teodor Alexand-roff, the leader of the Macedonian revolutionary organisation, met his death. According to the best authenticated account, Alexandroff was killed while on his way to attend a revolutionary congress at some secret meeting place in the mountains. He was accompanied by two guides whom he believed were devotedly attached to his person. His trust was misplaced. The guides had been suborned, and killed their master while he was resting on the journey. His body was subsequently found by others of his followers and buried in the Macedonian mountains, where he had made his home for so many years and where he had played so formidable a role behind the scenes in Balkan politics. While public opinion has naturally been excited over the dramatic death of this "Balkan Robin Hood," as he has been called, there have been no disorders.
Alexandroff, 42, the son of a school-master, was a tall, pale, bearded man of great vitality and iron will. The Serbian authorities had put a price of over £2,000 on his head.Queen Adelaide's Portrait.Discovered in a small second-hand-shop in London after a search of several months, a portrait of Queen Adelaide has been presented to the Australian city of that name by Sir Edward Lucas, Agent-General for South Australia. The capital of South Australia has been collecting mementoes of Queen Adelaide, and was anxious to get a picture of her. The portrait shows her wearing her coronation robes, and a special crown decorated with her own jewels. It was published in the "Court Journal" in 1836.
Queen Mary has expressed her wish to have photographs of the portrait. Another find that Sir Edward is also sending to Australia is a silk shawl that was bought in a second-hand-shop in Carlisle. It has a picture of King William and Queen Adelaide in the centre. Relics already in the collection include toilet table ware and candle-sticks once owned by Queen Adelaide, and presented by Queen Mary, and satin shoes from the Victoria and Albert Museum.
There are also 10 volumes from Queen Adelaide's library, and a pair of pistols, such as were carried by outsiders, inscribed with her initials.CANADIAN MEMORIES.*C.P.R. CHIEF RELATES EXPERIENCES.After 20 years, Mr. George H.
Ham, the famous publicity chief of the Canadian Pacific Railways, is re-visiting London, and, although he is nearly 80 years of age, he will be back in harness again when his holiday is finished."I have been with the C.P.R. in an official capacity for 33 years," he told the "Evening Standard," "but I can recall its beginnings and the great men who built it up—Strathcona, Mountstephen, Van Horne and Shaughnessy—as vividly as though it were yesterday."His stories are nearly as famous as he is himself, and he told a few of them for the "Evening Standard.""CUTTING THEIR HEADS OFF."
"In my early days," he said, "I had a job as an A.B. on the 'Marsburg,' a big schooner, owned by my father-in-law, trading on Lake Erie. One day, when we ran into Port Dalhousie, I went to a barber's for a shave. My face had been nicely lathered, when I noticed the barber making furious flourishes through the air with his razor. I asked him what he was doing, and he told me he was 'cutting their heads off.' Then he gave another slash at the invisible objects with heads on, and still another and another.""Hold on," I said, as I rubbed the lather off my face with a towel;
"let me help you," and, arising from the chair, I said confidently to him, "Say, old man, don't you think we could do the job better if we had a little drink?"This appealed to him favourably, and we went to a saloon, where he ordered brandy and soda and poured out a stiff 'un, while I tried to drink a glass of lager and skipped out and never stopped running until I lay down, exhausted, in the fo'castle of the "Marsburg." That was the closest shave I ever had."EXIT THE BULLY.When I struck Winnipeg, the embryo city was just putting on its first pants. My seat-mate on the train from Duluth to Moorhead was "Billy" Bell—now Colonel William G. Bell, a prominent citizen of Winnipeg. There were no sleeping-cars then. At Althen, Minnesota, a lumbering centre, a wild-eyed lumber jack, with the red shirt sleeves rolled up and his trousers stuck in his top boots, leaped on the car and, furiously brandishing a revolver, swaggered down the aisle."Who am I?" mingled with a wonderful flow of adjectives, was his constant cry to the harassed occupants of the coach. "Say who I am." As he approached our seat his voice became louder, and the revolver was flourished still more frantically. It pained me.
So I grabbed Billy by the arm and, looking the disbeliever in the eye, sharply remarked: "Billy, tell the gentleman who he is."That's all there is to the story, for the bully vanquished by the rear door.There was a famous city councillor of Winnipeg in the '70's, Alderman Cornish. When he was mayor—he was the first—he hauled himself up before himself on a charge of being, well, let's say not too sober and fined himself five dollars and costs. The attendants at the police court applauded this Spartan act until they heard the Mayor say to himself, "Cornish, is this your first offence, and culprit Cornish blandly informed Mayor Cornish that it was. Then addressing himself he said, "Well, if it's your first offence, Cornish, I'll remit your fine."For Stiff, Sore Muscles, Try Chamberlain's Pain BalmBruises and strains, stiff, swollen joints of hands, feet or other parts of the body,

Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Owing to its penetrating quality, the circulation is

THE GERMAN NAVY.NAVAL MANOEUVRES IN BALTIC.*A DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM.

[H. C. Bywater in "The Observer."]
London, September 12.—Recent messages from Berlin telling of naval manoeuvres in the Baltic, together with photographs of ships taking part which have appeared in the London papers, serve as a reminder that Germany still has a navy. Compared with the major fleets it may seem insignificant, but there are clear indications that this small force is being developed to a high state of efficiency. The manoeuvres that took place early in the present month are the third which have been held since the peace, and more ships were engaged this time than on either of the previous occasions. Under the Versailles Treaty the dimensions of the active fleet are rigidly limited. No more than six battleships and six light-cruisers may be kept in full commission at one time, nor must the flotillas exceed a total of 24 destroyers and torpedo-boats.

Hitherto, from motives of economy, only a part of this force has been maintained in commission, but the active fleet has doubled in size since 1921, and will probably be at full strength a year or two hence. Its material is obsolete; all the battleships are pre-Dreadnoughts, averaging twenty years of age, and they are armed with 11-inch guns of an old pattern. Incidentally, a squadron of these ships fought at Jutland, and was hotly engaged for a brief period with Admiral Beatty's battle cruisers. Considering their feeble armament and poor protection, it is amazing that they should have escaped without serious damage.

THE NEW PERSONNEL.
Before being placed in commission, every ship undergoes a thorough renovation, which, in the case of several of the battleships, has included partial re-armament. Most of the light cruisers and destroyers have also been rebuilt, and it is safe to say that every unit of the active fleet is now in an efficient state. The bulk of this work is performed at Wilhelmshaven, the former great dockyard at Kiel having been taken over almost entirely for commercial purposes. But while the material element is not neglected, it is to the training of the personnel that the authorities devote their main effort. Compulsory service having been abolished by the Peace Treaty, the German Navy is now manned on a voluntary basis. Officers and warrant officers are required to serve for a consecutive period of twenty-five years; petty officers and men for twelve years. The total personnel is restricted to 15,000, 10 per cent. of whom are officers. The current establishment is not far short of this maximum number.

No difficulty is found in obtaining recruits, despite the very rigorous tests of character and physique which they have to pass. In the old Imperial Navy there was no promotion to commissioned rank from the lower deck. Under the new régime, however, any seaman may aspire to become an officer, provided he has been educated at one of the higher schools, or has taken a college course. Before he applies for advancement to the grade of "Anwärter," or cadet, he must have served two years as seaman or stoker. That this democratic system does not exist merely on paper is evident from the considerable number of "Anwärter," whose names appear in the latest German navy list. The impassable gulf which divided warship from lower deck in the old Navy was admittedly one of the prime causes of the breakdown of discipline which occurred towards the end of the war. It is a fair presumption that the German naval personnel of to-day is in all respects as good as, if not better than, that of 1914.

BALTIC PRACTICE.

The commissioned fleet is divided equally between the North Sea and the Baltic, though both squadrons unite at regular intervals for combined training. According to the "Marine Rundschau," the centre of naval gravity has now shifted to the Baltic, "where the situation created by the separation of the province of East Prussia draws the fleet to the east, and the flag must be shown to those Germans who have been cut off from the Fatherland, and in relation to whom difficulties may yet arise." Admiral Behncke, who for the past three years has been Director of Naval Service, now a section of the National Defence Ministry—is about to be relieved by Admiral Zenger, the Commander-in-Chief of the Baltic, and elaborately-organized naval staff is maintained at the Ministry; in fact, the shore organisation, both at Berlin and the naval ports, is so extensive as to suggest that the present fleet is regarded merely as the nucleus of a much greater navy of the future. In addition to the normal routine drill at sea, the fleet makes periodic cruises to Scandinavian waters. Target practice is with guns and torpedoes, training with submarines.

and other tactical operations are carried out with frequency. During the manoeuvres just concluded part of the fleet attacked Swinemunde, thus affording the coast defences, which are manned by the navy, an opportunity of demonstrating their prowess against naval targets.

LOOKING AHEAD.

No one who has studied its gradual but steady reconstruction since the peace can doubt that the German fleet will eventually reassert itself as a factor to be reckoned with. For obvious reasons, popular interest in the navy declined to zero immediately after the war; but a clever and widespread propaganda is being waged to convince the German nation that its future still lies on the water. The "Marine Rundschau," a semi-official monthly, published under the aegis of the naval administration, preaches an undiluted nationalism. The people's memory of the revolt at Kiel in October, 1918, which precipitated the revolution, and of the humiliating surrender of the High Sea Fleet, is being submerged by a flood of literature which recalls the bright episodes of the campaign at sea. One volume on this theme, "Auf See unabsteig!" ("Undeatable at Sea"), compiled by Admiral von Mantey, who also edits the German official history of the naval war, has had a remarkable sale. The fact that recent Naval credits, including appropriations for the building of a new cruiser and a destroyer, have been voted by large majorities in the Reichstag is a tribute to the efficacy of this propaganda. Moreover, there is published proof that eminent German naval architects spend their time in designing new fighting ships of unique offensive properties, such as, for example, the 1,000-ton submarine cruisers planned by Professor Oswald Flügge, of Charlottenburg. So long as the Naval clauses of the Versailles Treaty continue in force, the German Navy must remain a more or less impotent, but the activities outlined above, tend to develop a confidence in certain German circles that the terms of the Treaty, in this respect at all events, are not inviolable.

RACING NOTES.

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON THE HANDICAPS.

[By Argus].

In last night's "China Mail" were printed the handicaps for the forthcoming race-meeting to be held on Saturday week under the auspices of the Hongkong Jockey Club at Happy Valley.

Taking them in the order in which the races will be decided the Shek-O Handicap ("B" class) is first on the list with Orient Dahlin and Satisfaction Dahlin top-weights at 160 lbs. Loch Rannoch and Duke of Frisco each have 158 lbs., Durian and Staudan a pound less; Irrepressible 156 lbs., Day of Surprise 155 lbs., on the 154 lbs. mark are Langsat, King Johnnie and Drake; Mountain Hawk, Speargrass and Smart Guy each have a pound less; Cottongrass, Little Minch, Fatsai (late Umpireship), Halkham and White Rose are each allotted 152 lbs.; Manchu Prince 151 lbs., Watthenu and Exchange Bill each 150 lbs., and 147 lbs. and Pet Mouse 146 lbs.

To obtain a line, it is necessary to refer to the Reading Handicap ("B" class) decided on October 11. The top-weight then was 157 lbs., and the bottom Cottongrass 138 lbs. This pony actually carried 140 lbs. and won from Woodpecker (167 lbs.) with Nastaran II. (159 lbs.) third, and Langsat (153 lbs.) fourth. The second and the third are now in Class "A" for some obscure reason, while the winner is penalised 9 lbs. (it must be remembered top-weight is 160 lbs., compared to 167 lbs.), though in comparison with Langsat, the latter meets Cottongrass on 13 lbs. better terms. Manchu Prince is allowed 13 lbs., Smart Guy 10 lbs. and Little Minch 12 lbs. That covers the ponies that ran in the Reading Handicap and are also included in the Shek-O handicap. So far there is little wrong. It is when one takes into consideration the inclusion of Orient Dahlin and Satisfaction Dahlin in "B" class that one feels a mistake has been made. At last meeting the former was sent out on two occasions presumably to make the pace for a stable companion. On the last occasion, he gave 5 lbs. to Roman Parrot and was beaten by two lengths with a fair field behind him. Satisfaction Dahlin being fourth, 5½ lengths away from Orient, the last-named giving 5 lbs. Now they meet at even weights, which points to Orient Dahlin as the winner. Of course danger can be expected from Loch Rannoch and Day of Surprise in addition. Halkham is a newcomer that I have seen moving well of late, but I fancy he is held safe by those mentioned and to furnish the winner I shall stand by Orient Dahlin for the present, until I know who is to have the mount on Cottongrass.

In the Shek-O "A" class, one's eye at once rests on the names of Penecastle 152 lbs. and Hartfield 155 lbs. These two last met in the Letcombe Stakes (6 furlongs) at level weights 159 lbs. Penecastle won by 3 lengths for which defeat Hartfield is penalised 3 lbs. Full House gave each of the foregoing 3 lbs. and finished down the course—yet he is again asked to give Penecastle 3 lbs.

In the Reading Handicap "A" Class in which Roman Parrot was disqualified the order past the post was:—

Roman Parrot	151 lbs.	1
Silver Spear	153 lbs.	2
Hartfield	157 lbs.	3
Rivergrass	154 lbs.	4

Won by a neck; 1½, 1.

The weights now allotted are:—

Roman Parrot	156 lbs.
Silver Spear	154 lbs.
Hartfield	155 lbs.
Rivergrass	155 lbs.

At first blush, Roman Parrot appears rather hardly done by, but when one recalls his form at last meeting, there is little at which to cavil.

Washington has been put up 6 lbs. though it is difficult to see how he has earned it. Though he was undoubtedly leniently treated last meeting, the fact remains that it is difficult to reconcile the sudden change unless it is an acknowledgment that a mistake was made last meeting. The case of Woodpecker is on all fours. Last meeting he was in "B" class and finished second to Cottongrass at a difference of 17 lbs., now we find him in "A" with 148 lbs., a pound more than is allotted to Nastaran II.

Last time Woodpecker was weighted at 167 lbs., Nastaran at 152 lbs. The former was second by ½ length for which 4 lbs. is deducted. Surely the difference in their weights needed no alteration! I confess that I am entirely at a loss to fathom the system followed by the handicapper, but as I wrote on a previous occasion his "foes" will doubtless regard

ITALIAN OPERA.

PRESENTATION OF FAUST FINDS FAVOUR.

AIDA FOR TO-NIGHT.

Only the finest singers and those having powers of dramatic interpretation are able successfully to attempt to do justice to the spirit of Goethe and the music of Gounod; the finest compliment that could be paid Carpi's Italian Opera Company was the applause with which each act and many individual items of "Faust," as given at the Theatre Royal last night, were greeted by an audience which was representative of practically every educational institution in Hongkong.

The atmosphere created by the artists was one in which could be fully appreciated the struggle for the soul of the aged philosopher who, spurning gold and power, cries out for youth, and the workings of the diabolical plot of Mephistopheles against the maiden Marguerite.

No theatrical "effects" were needed by Carlo Milochi; his voice, with its rich depth and expression and his powers of dramatic characterisation were quite sufficient to convey the dark powers of the tempter. As the alchemist and the gallant, Emmele Gilletta was able to do full justice to a voice of great range and of considerable charm and when in exquisite strain he called heaven, the moon and stars to witness that his love was true the audience were enraptured.

Mlle. Castallani invested the part of Marguerite with all the necessary sisterly devotion, love and passion and the Jewel Song found particular favour.

The orchestra, again under the direction of Costantino, gave the vocalists every assistance.

To-night Aida will be staged.

CORRESPONDENCE.

RACING HANDICAPS.

[To the Editor of the China Mail.]

Sir,—"Argus" says that out of 30 handicaps decided at Happy Valley since January this year, the favourite has won on 11 occasions, been second on 10, third 3 times and unplaced 6 times, "so that the results reflect great credit on the adjuster of weights for providing the public with a medium for a good gamble" (the italics are mine.)

Surely, Sir, the favourite has been placed too often, according to the analysis given. Placed four times to every time unplaced? No wonder we get these 10 cent dividends so often.

Then "Argus" also writes about topweights. I do not remember if Spotted Sand carried topweight or not on the wonderful second day when he beat Friarsfield nowhere but if the handicapper had not given us a good thing by giving Friarsfield a lighter weight than Spotted Sand, after having won an identical race on the Saturday before, in better time, we should not have been let down so badly. I have not been down once since. Some people are thankful that sweep tickets can still be purchased without having to go down. No more tote for me.

INTERPORT GOLF.

SHANGHAI V. HONGKONG.

FERGUSON'S GOOD SHOW.

Full Scores For Singles.

(Reuter's Service.)

Shanghai, October 29.

Hongkong and Shanghai finished up all square at the end of the Interport Golf Singles to-day, each winning three singles.

Ferrier (Shanghai) beat A. H. Ferguson (Hongkong) by 3 up and 2 to play.

Budd (Shanghai) beat I. W. Shewan (Hongkong) by 5 up and 5 to play.

Pilcher (Shanghai) beat Capt. L. Bennet (Hongkong) by 6 up and 4 to play.

R. A. Camidge (Hongkong) beat Barrett (Shanghai) by 7 up and 5 to play.

A. K. Mackenzie (Hongkong) beat Oswald (Shanghai) by 11 up and 9 to play.

N. L. Smith (Hongkong) beat Porter (Shanghai) 6 up and 5 to play.

Ferguson was the best, scoring 74 in both the morning and afternoon rounds. He was 2 down at the end of the morning round and played the Shanghai "star" level in the afternoon.

Mackenzie was brilliant, swamping his opponent.

Smith had his match under control at all stages and won easily.

The form displayed by the Hongkong players augurs well for the team's chances in the Far Eastern Championship to be played on Saturday and Sunday.

All members of the team turned in scores of under 80.

The foursmen will be played to-morrow, i.e., to-day (Thursday).

Of the Hongkong team that played against Manila at Fanling Ferguson, Camidge, Shewan and Bennet have gone to Shanghai. E. J. R. Mitchell and A. B. Stewart could not get away and their places were filled by Mackenzie and Smith.

Ferrier, Barrett and Porter were in the Shanghai team which won by a very close margin at Fanling last year, after a very fine match.

Reuter probably means that Ferguson had the best score of the Hongkong players but it may have been that he was the best on either side. He finished the first 18 holes 2 down and then played Ferrier level in the afternoon. This means that after Ferrier had won the match—3 up and 2 to play—at the 16th hole (or, rather the 34th for the day) they decided to complete the round and that Ferguson must have won either the 17th or 18th hole to "play the Shanghai star level in the afternoon," as Reuter says.

Originally, the match was to have been played to-day (Thursday) and to-morrow (Friday) but it was decided to play off a day earlier to give the competitors a day's rest before the Far Eastern Championship came off. All the Hongkong players are likely to compete in the latter event.

The Shanghai papers refer to the Far Eastern Championship as the Open Amateur Championship of China.

ARMS FOUND.

SUCCESSFUL RAID BY INSPECTOR FALLON.

POSSESSORS SENT TO JAIL.

A successful raid was made by the police last evening on the s.s. "Hoi Wing," lying at the Kung Fook Dockyard, when one revolver, four pistols, 21 packets of ammunition, and several spare magazines were seized.

Four men were produced at the Central Magistracy this morning and charged with the possession of these arms.

Sub-Inspector Fallon, detailing the history of the raid, said that on searching the bunk of the first defendant, who was a sailor on the vessel, he found a revolver and 11 packets of ammunition. This man was found guilty and sentenced to 8 months' rigorous imprisonment or a fine of $1,000.

The remainder of the arms was found in the possession of the second defendant, also a ship's employee, who said that an old man had given him the arms. The latter, who was arrested in Kowloon City, admitted having brought the arms with him from the States and entrusted them to the second defendant to take to his country. The second defendant was given 12 months' imprisonment, while the third man and the fourth defendant were each sentenced to six months' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000.

HONGKONG OPIUM.

COMMENT ON GOVERNMENT REPORT.

A DEBATEABLE QUESTION.

In the recent Customs report issued by the Superintendent of Imports and Exports at Hongkong we note that whilst the Government has made full use of their authorisation to double their previous opium importation for home consumption the Colony has not consumed that quantity. During 1923 instead of buying 240 chests of opium, only 185 were thus treated. This failure to dispose of the 240 chests indicates one of two things, either 240 chests per annum is in excess of the local demand by opium smokers—for there is no check upon the consumption of opium apart from the high price charged for Government opium and the penalties for illicit transactions—or that the failure to sell the 240 chests is due to increased smuggling into the Colony of Chinese cheap opium. When this Association in conjunction with other Societies in England, and the Chinese representative on the League of Nations Committee, strongly protested against the increase of Hongkong's importation from 120 chests to 240 chests per annum, the defence was made at the League that there would be no actual increase in opium consumption because during the years in which only 140 chests had been imported reserve stocks had been drawn on to meet the local demand. The reserve stock on December 31, 1922, was only 26 chests whereas on the same date in 1923 it was 191 chests. It would appear therefore that in a year like 1923 in which the Colony imported a total of 760 chests of Indian and Persian opium (of which 500 chests were exported to presumably Macao and Formosa) a balance of 260 chests was left on hand. Hence the consumption of only 185 instead of 240 was not due to any shortage nor was it due to any further increase in the selling price. As no attempts have been made by the Government to restrict opium consumption other than the high price charged, is the difference due to increased smuggling, or the lessened use on the part of the Chinese? We are not prepared to think that the Chinese in Hongkong are giving up the opium habit, therefore must conclude that the smuggling of Chinese opium is on the increase. The recent report laid before the Hongkong Legislative Council affirms that the smuggled Chinese opium used in Hongkong is equal in quantity to that sold in a legitimate manner by the Government. This fact is of great importance for it will be made the principal line of defence at next month's Conference at Geneva. The Hongkong Government has already published a valuable defence of their position in which they have extensively dealt with each of the League Conference proposals, and have advanced very cogent reasons against any change in their opium regulations. Any unbiased persons will unquestionably agree that if a social evil cannot be totally suppressed then it is infinitely preferable to have it under control than as in China at the present time where the law totally prohibits opium and yet practice indicates general and unrestricted use. The whole problem reduces itself to this one debatable question, namely under the present conditions of unlimited opium production in China can Hongkong wisely close her monopoly and totally prohibit opium? From the moral point of view yes! Opium is recognised by the world as one of, if not the greatest of, social evils for which no defence exists, but would prohibition in Hongkong get rid of it? It is impossible to think so knowing that the Colony is but a stone's throw from the Chinese mainland. To declare total prohibition in Hongkong would call forth storms of moral acclamation all over the world, but at the same time would immerse the Colony in an illicit traffic which no preventive service could control. If in 1923

It was popularly believed at the time that he was in his house at Kowloon City while "directing his troops in the field."

HOCKEY.

CLUB DEFEATED BY GRENADIERS.

[By "Sticks."]

Yesterday afternoon playing at the Marina Ground, Kowloon, after a very close and well-contested game, the Grenadier Hockey eleven defeated the Club "A" team by three goals to two.

Some of the Club players did not arrive until play had been in progress some time, but arrived before any score had been made.

The Grenadiers opened the score, from a scramble near the goal mouth, shortly before half-time. However, Rose made a good run, soon after, enabling Gardner to put the ball into the net.

At half-time the score was one all.

Early in the second half, the Grenadiers put through a goal which was disallowed, but not long after they added another and then a third. The Club did not reply to near the end when a combination movement of the right wing resulted in a goal from Locke.

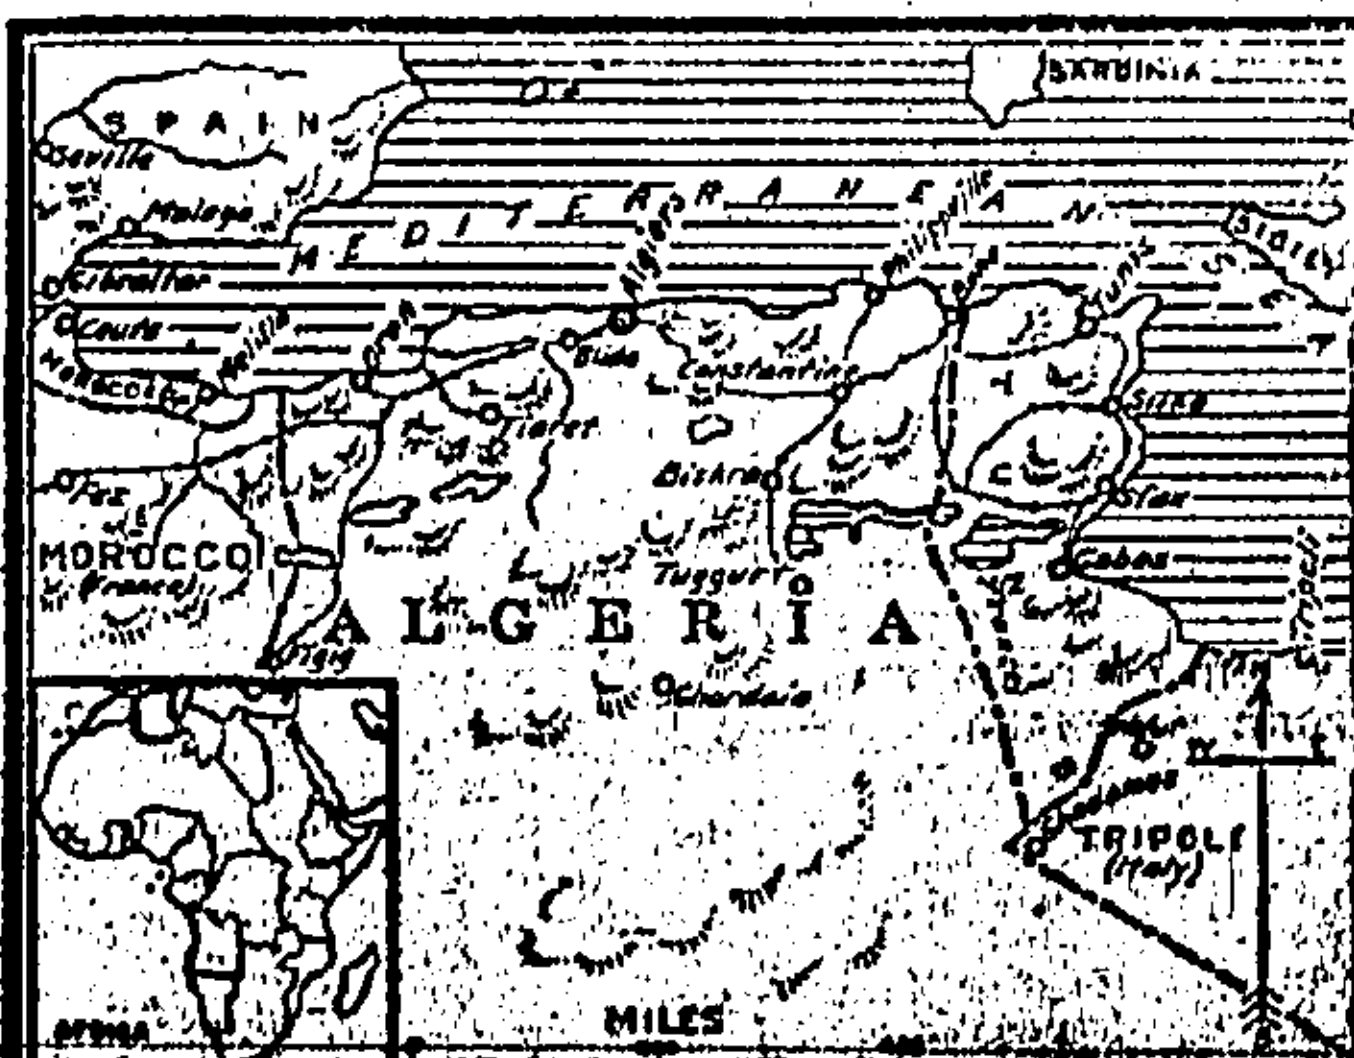

The Club's defence played well, especially Wedlake, but the forwards missed several opportunities.

The Senior Revenue Officer of Hongkong alone captured 716 illicit opium keepers, 3,357 illicit opium smokers, 935 traffickers in opium and 60 boilers of illicit opium in a Colony where Government opium is unrestricted, it can only be imagined how these numbers would increase under prohibition. The moral victory would be converted into a legislative and social disaster, and of the two evils it is always wise to choose the less. Hongkong by the sole reason of her contiguity waits for China.

So long as Chinese opium is grown in such enormous quantities and sold at such cheap rates, the brain of man could not devise efficient measures for the prevention of smuggling into Hongkong. All anti-opium workers are presumably working to lessen opium consumption, and not merely to get rid of particular methods of disposal, therefore whilst it is deeply regrettable that a British Colony should still be participating in a traffic which is universally declared to be "indefensible," still it is the lesser evil and it is a controlled one. These considerations do not apply to those other monopolies of the East, which are removed from China by long sea journeys. There, opium from China could only enter by ocean steamers or Chinese junks capable of making long sea trips, and these could be more easily watched by a preventive service, but in Hongkong where at least ten thousand coolies daily cross and re-cross to China, smuggling could not be prevented. Of all the monopolies of the East, Hongkong has far and away the lowest per capita consumption of opium, even though the smuggled amount be added to the legal sales, therefore whilst deploring the fact of the Hongkong monopoly we repeat the words of her Governor "that no financial consideration will stand in the way of reduction and ultimate total prohibition but it must be pari-passu with similar conditions in China."

IVAN MOZUKIN AND NATHALIA LESIENKO (THE WORLD'S GREATEST DRAMATIC STARS)

A 9-REEL DRAMA OF EXCITING SCENES.

There are few persons who haven't read and do not hold in sentimental regard Alex. Dumas' strongest masterpiece "KEAN" known the world over. It is a powerful dramatic tale relating the life and unhappy ending of Edmund Kean, whom the critics and public alike, hailed not only as Britain's foremost actor of that period, but as one of the greatest dramatic geniuses of all time.

It is a picture of Love and despair, of dreams and ashes of dreams. A picture that will grip and hold the poignant appeal which will reach deeply into every human heart. It is a living breathing document of real life.

Mr. MOZUKIN, Europe's greatest dramatic actor on the screen, assisted by an exceptionally talented cast, comprising N. LESIENKO & NIO KOJINE, is enacting a rôle of heavy dramatic exactions, and he succeeds in registering almost the entire game of emotions in a manner of such certainty that his work in "KEAN" touches probably the uppermost point of the dramatic attainment of his career.

"THE MOTH"

Norma Talmadge has never, perhaps, had a vehicle which has offered her greater opportunities for the display of her great emotional power than "The Moth," the Selznick picture which is now showing at the Queen's Theatre. Her characterization of Lucy Gillam, first as a young subdue with everything in the world her heart could wish for, the world lying fair and promising before her, later as a gay young maitre running madly in the pursuit of pleasure, and finally as the disillusioned wife, seeing her happiness demolished and disgrace and despair staring her in the face, is one of the finest the writer has ever seen. There is no straining after effort, her performance is a marvel of light and shade.

Sharing honors with Miss Tilmadge is Eugene O'Brien who plays the lead. As a dashing English soldier, a man of mystery, who wins the love of the giddy society butterfly and brings her to a realization of the responsibilities of life, Mr. O'Brien makes the most of the opportunities offered to display his histrionic ability. The supporting cast which includes the names of many well known players was excellent. The scenic effects and settings are realistic and depict a panorama of gorgeous pictures of life among America's four hundred.

RECENT FRONTIER DISPUTE SETTLED.

(Reuter's Service.)

BRUSSELS, October 29. The decision of the Council of the League of Nations, to whom the question of the status quo frontier was referred, establishes a line whereby the British will give up the administration of a small tract but will not evacuate anything, while the Turks will evacuate some villages.

No strategically important place is affected on either side, and both parties agreed to accept the decision. A neutral commission of three members, headed by Count Telecki, ex-Hungarian Premier, will proceed to Mosul as early as possible to finally settle the frontier, to which this provisional line is in no relation.

PORT SOUDAN, October 29. An attempt by the leading residents of Jeddah and Mecca to arrange terms with the Wahabis failed.

A representative of the Wahabis at Mecca states that peace is impossible while Ali remains on the throne. This appears to be the insurmountable obstacle. Jeddah has now been placed in a state of defence, and military preparations are being made to resist the threatened attack. Reinforcements are coming to Jeddah from Akaba and many of the population are leaving.

CANTON CABLES.

COMMUNICATION STILL INTERRUPTED.

STRATEGICAL ADVANTAGE?

As yet telegraphic communication with Canton is still interrupted. This state of affairs has existed for about a month, not taking into account the previous periods of interruption.

About a month ago, the pro-Sun garrison at Samchun and a little further from the New Territories border, fell back when the "Chinese Black Douglas," really a guerrilla commander under Chan Kwong-ming, advanced. Since then something has happened which has rendered it impossible to get cables over the land-lines to Canton.

Some think that the anti-Sun troops find a strategical advantage in cutting Canton off from telegraphic communication with Hongkong but the mercantile community doubtless have their own views.

At present the chances of restoration seem remote.

FIRE ON SHIP.

MYSTERIOUS OUTBREAK ON S.S. "YINGCHOW."

STEAMER SAFE.

How a fire broke out in the hold of the China Navigation steamer, "Yingchow" when in Swatow harbour on Tuesday afternoon, seems to have baffled the ship's officers.

At 4.35 p.m. on Tuesday fire broke out in the No. 1 (lower) hold. An hour and a half previously, the hatches had been placed in position.

With commendable promptitude the ship's officers had the hoses ready and the outbreak was located just before 5 p.m. and was soon got under control.

It was then found that some bales of cotton had been scorched and that two boxes of cigarettes were charred. There was no damage to the ship or other cargo.

No sign of fire was seen by the stevedores on leaving the hold but smoke was observed to be coming out about half an hour after the cargo coolies had finished work and left.

The "Yingchow" is of 1,216 tons, net. Captain P. R. Purslow is the skipper. The steamer put in at Swatow on its way down from Shanghai and is now in port, none the worse for her experience.

ELECTIONS.

CLOSE OF CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, October 29. An especially noteworthy feature of the closing of the campaign is the absence of the customary attempts to forecast results. The Conservatives alone are hopeful of getting a clear majority, but admit that this depends on a larger proportion of voters going to the poll than last year.

Mr. Baldwin's final appeal exhorts the electors to vote Conservative, "at this great crisis of our history."

The Liberals profess confidence of retaining balance of power in the new Parliament.

The Labourites voice expectations of a sweeping victory, but nowhere boast anticipation of a clear mandate.

The results of approximately 225 constituencies will be published to-night and will be heard in comfort by millions all over the country, thanks to elaborate arrangements. Theatres, music halls and restaurants will remain open to the early hours of the morning and railways are running special night services. The results will also be wirelessly broadcast until one in the morning.

Mr. J. R. Clyne.

"ENEMIES OF WOMEN."

A BEAUTY GETS DUCKING

Beach beauties who make certain that the silk bathing creations in which they disport never get near the water probably would have heaved a voluble sigh had they been present at the filming of the magnificent garden party in "Enemies of Women," the picturization of the Ibsen novel, which is showing at The Star Theatre.

In making this scene more than enough evening gowns to equip the chorus of a musical extravaganza were ruined and scores of beautiful women received an unwelcome ducking when Prince Michael Luginow, the leading character, played by Lionel Barrymore, staged the most extravagant of his many wild parties.

When the scene of revelry is at its height the many Broadway beauties who appear in the picture, all garbed in gorgeous evening clothes, are tumbled into an artificial lake for the entertainment of the host.

REPORT FOR YEAR

the third annual meet

At the third annual meeting of the "Ex-Active Service Men's Association," to be held to-morrow evening, the following report of the Committee will be presented:

We believe you will agree that the balance Sheet reveals a very satisfactory year's transaction. Our gross turnover, including subscriptions and fees was approximately $36,000. Our trading profit from all sources including bar, refreshments and billiards was over $8,000. Of this profit, over $3,000 was spent on Easman Beach, and about $7,000 on relief. Our bad and irrecoverable debts amount to $662.16, or slightly more than 2 per cent. This is not so satisfactory as last year's Balance Sheet shows, but with a constantly moving membership such as ours, it is impossible to avoid a certain amount of loss under this heading.

During the year 125 new members joined the Association, and 37 members resigned: mostly on account of leaving the Colony. It is with deep regret that your Committee have to report the death of two members during the year—Messrs. A. Hutchinson and B. S. Corke. This leaves our total membership at the end of the year at 641. We think you will agree that this is highly satisfactory.

During the year the following members of the Committee re-

THE BATHING BEACH.

During the year, Easing Beach has been very well patronised and has been a source of pleasure and recreation to a large number of members and their friends. The launch made 61 actual bathing trips to the Beach and conveyed over 2,700 people. In addition, an Aquatic Carnival was held on the Beach, and a Moonlight Bathing Excursion both of which were very well patronised and were highly successful, although the attendance at the Moonlight Bathing Excursion was somewhat affected by the weather. It was decided during the year to institute the practice of issuing tickets; at 50 cents each, to members for use by their friends; and this appears to

SPORTING ACTIVITIES.

The Association presented two small cups for competition at the Garrison-Swimming Sports. These cups were to be known as the tion amongst boys and girls or

The experiment of holding quar-found in practice unsatisfactory, very successful, and amounted to a Count Reventlow, leader of the German Monarchists, declared in Berlin that if the Government agreed to the Dawes reparations plan without the consent of the Reichstag the people would tear the protocol up as "a scrap of paper," and that the Hitlerites would treat foreign commissioners as "enemy invaders" whose personal safety could not be guaranteed.

HONGKONG TIDE.

The tide-table given below has been compiled at the Hydrographic Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha

Tsi during the years 1903-4.

The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty Chart, which has been found to be 4 feet 3 inches below mean sea-level.

To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 3 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at

Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet

4 inches to the height given in the table.

October 23 to 29, 1924.
